

Ferme de Moudon Les Gets, France

What we love...

We love feeling like we're living on our own private mountain as we look out at the snow-covered trees from the steamy confines of the outdoor hot tub.

Entering the Ferme de Moudon is like walking into a particularly good episode of Grand Designs. The place screams sophistication and wonderful mountain cosiness at equal volume. You'll just want to slip on some trendy sheepskin slippers and dive onto the sofa in front of the gorgeous open fireplace the minute you get there.

Designed by revered interior designer Nicky Dobree, Ferme de Moudon is a pleasing mix of modern class and alpine tradition, with chunky wooden beams, pillars and log piles contrasting with chic furniture and floor lamps, plump throws and cushions, and colourful art. Beautiful but homely too.

And then there's the view. Tucked away in a private hamlet, Ferme de Moudon is wonderfully secluded amongst the trees with views across the valley from its various balconies. Possibly best enjoyed from the outdoor hot tub with a glass of Champagne in hand.

As well as the delights of dipping into hot bubbles in the cool night air, the chalet has a sauna and a massage room to indulge in after a day's skiing. And there's an office with wifi if you need to check in with the real world from time to time.

But hopefully, you can instead spend most of your time relaxing by the fire, watching DVDs on the giant plasma, and enjoying a delectable menu crafted by your talented cook on five evenings. After all, designer or not designer, once the lifts have closed for the day, that is what ski holidays are really all about.

Eating

Ferme de Moudon is offered on a 'Relaxed Catered' service, where guests can expect mouth-watering meals prepared by the chalet's dedicated cook.

Each morning, your chalet host will lay out a hearty continental breakfast to set you up for the day, with additional hot options on offer. Once you've burned all that off on the slopes, you'll return to your chalet to find afternoon tea with either sweet or savoury tart from the local artisan pâtisserie laid out for you to enjoy.

A 3-course dinner is provided on five evenings and early kids' tea can be arranged if required. On staff days off, you're free to either explore a wide range of restaurants in Les Gets, order a takeaway or cook for yourselves in the comfort of your chalet.

The chalet will also be pre-stocked with a selection of house wines, spirits bar with speciality gins, craft beers and European lager for guests to enjoy.

Kids

Say the words 'outdoor hot tub' out loud and you know your kids will be happy all week. But as well as the joys of splashing about in steamy bubbles, there's plenty of room elsewhere for children to enjoy themselves. You might want to watch them when they're near the open fire, but they'll probably be too busy watching the huge plasma screen to cause any mischief.

Children can either eat with you or enjoy high tea together at whatever time you'd like. Like the choice of food, the schedule is entirely up to you.

Outside of the confines of Ferme de Moudon, there's an ice-rink in Les Gets, and husky rides are available too.

We can arrange for a private English-speaking nanny to look after your children either snuggled up inside, or refereeing snowball fights outside. And if you'd like a night out, babysitters can also be organised.

High chairs and cots can also easily be arranged, as well as any extras – from nappies and wipes to bumboards and bedtime story books.

Location

Chalet Ferme de Moudon is set in the private Moudon hamlet, surrounded by trees, with fabulous mountain views. But despite its secluded location it's still just a 3-minute chauffeured drive from the nearest ski lifts in Les Gets and the centre of the resort.

Your driver will be at your beck and call throughout your stay.
