

Portetta Lofts - No. 2

Courchevel 1650, France

What we love...

We love the hotel's Fire & Ice bar with an outdoor terrace right at the bottom of the main piste and has huge log burning fires, flaming torches, wood fired pizza oven, ice shots, fur snugs and heated bar seating. Perfect for après-ski!

All the comforts of a top lifestyle hotel, with the privacy of your own apartment, Portetta Lofts offer a winning combination.

Six stunning self-catering lofts (each with two or three bedrooms) sit atop the renowned Le Portetta Hotel. Each is individual in decor and what it has to offer but all have been designed with style and comfort at the top of the agenda. Boasting roaring log fires, beautiful balconies and unbelievable views over Courchevel 1650, the lofts have the peaceful, calm air of a gentleman's club, coupled with the rustic style of a New York loft apartment, for a relaxed, at-home feel.

The apartments are offered on a bed and breakfast basis so you can enjoy freedom on where, when and what you eat for lunch and dinner. In the evenings you can dine in the Portetta downstairs, where a wonderful meal is always available and menus change daily, venture out to one of the many resort restaurants, cook for yourselves or hire a chef so that you don't have to lift a finger.

As well as the spacious comfort of your loft, you can enjoy full access to all the facilities the Portetta has to offer, from its spa with hammam to its attentive staff who are always on hand to ensure your holiday runs as smoothly as possible.

The perfect ski base for either a family or a group of friends, Portetta is right on the slopes, so you can ski from the door, and moments away from Courchevel 1650 and just a ten minute cable car ride from 1850. The area is renowned for its wide-ranging appeal to skiers of all abilities.

You can enjoy delicious meals in the Portetta hotel at the Cucina Angelina restaurant just downstairs at this luxury ski apartment. Breakfast is included in your stay, and if you're not cooking for yourself in the apartment's well-equipped kitchen or heading into town, the restaurant offers a fusion of classic and modern Italian cuisine for lunch and dinner with mouthwatering options on offer. After you return from your day's skiing, the hotel's simply stunning alfresco terrace bar, Fire and Ice offers the perfect spot for a post ski hot chocolate or aperitif. Situated at the foot of the main piste, its heated bar seats, fur snugs and burning torches couldn't offer a warmer welcome as you leave the slopes. If you're feeling a little peckish they also serve pizza cooked in a wood-fired oven.

Kids

The freedom of the lofts, coupled with the proximity to the hotel's excellent facilities makes Le Portetta lofts an excellent choice for families. Fully-equipped kitchens mean it's easy to prepare baby food, bottles or whatever your children need and there is a selection of DVDs and games available to keep them amused off the slopes.

Once the children are in bed you can sit back in the comfort and space of your loft apartment without worrying about baby monitors or childminders. The bar is just a short stroll downstairs if you would like to take drinks back to your apartment or babysitters can be easily arranged if you prefer. Cots and highchairs can also be arranged.

And of course 1650 is the ideal place in which to learn to ski, with wider, longer pistes with fewer skiers on them. And if attention spans are on the short side, a quick drive away you'll also find tobogganing, go-karting, ice-skating and bowling, for something a little different.

Location

Portetta lofts are located in the heart of Courchevel 1650, at the end of the Belvedere piste in a ski-in/ski-out position and just two minutes' walk to the ski lift.
