

Villa Aimie

Barbados, Carribean

What we love...

We love the way the architecture and design of this property work beautifully with the location, maximising every view and making the most of every feature.

Superbly stylish and perfectly placed, this luxury villa in Barbados, just moments from the Platinum coast beaches is sure to impress fans of interior design.

From its position up on a ridge, overlooking the Caribbean, Villa Aimie has wonderful sunset views. Impossibly enormous floor-to-ceiling glass doors fold right back, merging outside and inside almost completely and allowing you to enjoy the outlook from anywhere in the living spaces.

Step through the doors and a limestone terrace and infinity pool look down into a protected gully where ancient mahogany trees grow and you can often spot green monkeys wandering past. The spacious gardens are beautifully planted with indigenous plants, staying true to this luxury villa's environment.

This faithfulness to the location extends indoors, too. White and limestone walls provide a cooling, relaxed, typically Caribbean backdrop for the contemporary features and design-led furniture.

As you would expect, this stylish interior is matched with top-of-the-range gadgetry, from entertainment kit including satellite TV, DVD library and stereo to the well-equipped kitchen with everything you could need down to a coffee machine.

Your housekeeper will be on hand to ensure everything is just as you like it and further staff, including chef and babysitters can be added on request.

Reserve your space in the outdoor lounge, pull up a table for your cocktail and sit back and enjoy the never ending blue of pool, falling into sea, merging into sky. No filter needed.
