

Villa Calandria Ibiza, Spain

What we love...

We love the large swimming pool, surrounded by sun loungers and with wonderful views out to sea.

Perched up in the hills, this imposingly beautiful white building, fringed with palms, appears almost to shine against the deep blue sky. Villa Calandria is a luxury villa in Ibiza with a very special location – while it's nestled up on hills above the San Jose Road and has wonderfully restful sea views, it's an easy walk to Ibiza town, or a short drive, if you want to throw yourself into the action.

As you pass through the courtyard entrance, you can see right through to the other side of the villa, to the swimming pool and beyond to the sea. The open-plan style and white decor gives the property a really cool and airy feel, which perfectly sets off the stylish interiors.

The fabulous living room means everyone can find a space of their own, and includes a cosy fireplace area with plasma TV and seating gathered around, a grand piano and a large, comfy sofa arrangement set in front of the glass doors that open onto the pool area. Nearby, a large white dining table with ghost-style chairs in the window means that even on days when you can't eat alfresco, you can still feel as though you're outside.

In the living areas, and throughout the villa, modern art pieces add colour and character to the white and grey contemporary schemes. Each of the bedrooms is restfully designed with white linens and stone en-suites. The master bedroom has its own sunken bath tub and panoramic sea views for a relaxing soak before bedtime.

The outdoor spaces here are really special and make the most of the private gardens. Huge chill-out zones offer somewhere for a siesta in the shade or a place to gather with friends for early evening drinks. Sun-worshippers will love basking on the loungers at the side of the pool, from where you have wonderful views out to sea. The alfresco dining area is covered to offer shade and a little shelter in the event of a light shower and there's even a bar area with ping-pong table – your very own outdoor nightspot! A top-of-the-range sound system completes the effect. And if that has whetted your appetite for a little music and moonlit dancing, Ibiza Town itself is just a short drive away.
