

Villa Fedora Corfu, Greece

What we love...

We love the private beach. This billionaire-league luxury villa is one of the most exclusive addresses on the Greek island of Corfu. The estate is so large it even has a little whitewashed church in the grounds.

Star of the silver screen, Villa Fedora has played host to many a movie, including James Bond's 'For Your Eyes Only'. And indeed, during your time in Fedora, this exclusive villa will be for for your eyes only too.

There are nine acres – yes nine acres - of private estate around Villa Fedora, filled with fragrant olive trees, wisteria, bougainvillea and cypress trees. You even have your own private path down to a secluded cove sitting at the bottom of a tumble of stone steps, perfect for a dip in the warm waters of the Ionian Sea. As if that wasn't enough, the villa's 'Bella Vista' terrace boasts jaw-dropping views. Just sit back with a cocktail, looking out over the forests and the sea, immersed in the sunset glow and the cool night air.

Take a dip in the saltwater swimming pool, keep trim in the gym or have a jovial BBQ at sundown. Your well-trained and discrete team of staff will make you feel at home, preparing meals, cooking, cleaning and generally making you feel like royalty. And whilst we are on the subject, you may like to know that the Summer Residence of the former King of Greece, Mon Repos, is the neighbouring estate. With a boat dock under your villa, you could wave a cordial wave as you sail past should you decide to book a yacht for the day.

Groups of friends and extended families can be independent yet still feel part of the group, with a choice of accommodation. Will you choose one of the six elegant bedrooms in the main villa? Perhaps the two bedroom guest house with its own living room and kitchenette? Or the sweet little self-contained studio apartment? The Villa Fedora buildings are clustered around the elegant swimming pool and sun terraces.

Whether you fancy sailing a boat, sampling other beaches or diving into the maelstrom of Corfu Town, your concierge can arrange transport and make bookings, and the cook can pack you a picnic. Of course, you may find it hard to leave the attentive care of your all-encompassing luxury villa, and that is totally understandable.

Kids

The huge saltwater swimming pool gives extra buoyancy to little ones who are still learning to swim at this luxury villa. And if the kids are old enough to roam further afield, there are nine acres of woods and lawns to explore, spotting the local lizards and butterflies as they go.

It goes without saying that the little secluded beach with its sun loungers and floating jetty is a delightful place for family fun. Why not have your concierge arrange a little family fishing trip or a day out on a speedboat, exploring Corfu's craggy coastline?

If you need any additional services, such as professional childcare staff, or to have cots and high chairs in the villa, just let us know in advance.
