

Villa Galletto Tuscany, Italy

What we love...

We love that this is a villa just for two - it's a rare find.

The term 'bijou' was practically created for Villa Galletto. Small in size and big on style, this one-bedroom 'honeymoon cottage' is one of Tuscany's hidden gems.

Created with couples in mind, who may not want to hire a villa with six bedrooms they won't need, Galletto offers the same fantastic location, access to fabulous food and culture, and the stylish interiors you'd find in any luxury holiday villa in Tuscany but all on a smaller scale.

The private decked area and landscaped garden are perfect little sun traps and you'll make some fabulous memories eating good food and knocking back good wine while staring out at the rolling Tuscan hills. The villa also has access to a gorgeous swimming pool, shared with just one other villa, in the walled lavender garden.

In muted shades with exposed brickwork, the split-level living room is a really cosy place to snuggle up with a glass of Chianti at the end of the evening, before retiring to your airy bedroom to slip between crisp, cotton sheets.

Boltholes don't come any more beautiful than this.

Villa Galletto

Rooms

Villa Galletto has one bedroom and one bathroom and sleeps two people.

Eating

On arrival, a hamper of delicious treats should see you through until you go shopping. There's lots for foodies to enjoy in this part of Tuscany, not least the 'liquid lunches' available. Wine tastings and tours of local wineries can be arranged and you can even book cooking lessons on site, to learn how to prepare true Tuscan favourites.

If you wish to eat out, your concierge will be happy to make bookings for you. A private chef can also be hired for your entire stay to shop and prepare all meals for you.

Kids

Villa Galletto is best suited to a couple due to its size, but would accommodate a travel cot if you're travelling with a baby.
