

Villa La Margarita Marbella, Spain

What we love...

We love the roof solarium where you can sunbathe in total privacy.

You'll have forgotten all the stresses of life back home within seconds of walking through the door of Villa La Margarita. This bijou luxury villa in Marbella has been styled by renowned British interior designer, Andrew Martin, who has also been invited to design interiors for the HRH Elizabeth II and David and Victoria Beckham, among other distinguished clients. The rooms have been carefully thought through to ensure that they are super comfortable but also make the most of the villa's wonderful location, framing the views of the villa's garden at every opportunity inviting the outdoors in.

Set within the exclusive Puente Romano Beach Resort just 100m from the beach, you will enjoy access to first class facilities including numerous restaurants, an 18-hole golf course, tennis courts and kids club so that you can enjoy the best of both worlds.

The modern, bright white style makes for a very relaxing backdrop to the three luxury bedrooms and the central open-plan room with seating area and fully equipped kitchen.

The best thing about this villa, however, is the way in which it really makes the most of the lovely Marbella climate. The area immediately around the villa has been turned into an 'outdoor room' with a seating arrangement to mirror that inside the property and comfortable loungers surrounding the pool just beyond. There's even a rooftop solarium, perfect for lounging in the Spanish sun rays.
