

Chalet Mowgli Verbier, Switzerland

What we love...

We love taking a glass of champagne in the outdoor hot tub – you don't get more relaxing than bubbly in the bubbles with a mountain view.

Light, bright and a joy to walk into, Chalet Mowgli is a happy, cheerful place to return home to after a day of snowy adventures.

This luxury self-catered ski chalet in Verbier is perched high up on the sunny side of the mountain, enjoying both glorious light and an awesome mountain view. It's enough to lift the heart each morning when you draw the curtains.

As soon as you can hear the call of the hot tub and a stiff drink, you can simply ski back to the door (when snow conditions permit) and chuck your boots in the heated boot warmers, ready for your next excursion.

The interior of the chalet has been carefully designed to be as stylish as it is uplifting. The sun positively streams through the huge glass windows in the dining area, where a large oak table makes a welcoming centrepiece and a wonderful backdrop to many a long, convivial dinners.

The living spaces are all open plan, which gives the property a relaxed and sociable feel, making it perfect for parties as well as laid-back gatherings of friends and family around the fire. After your evening meal, we strongly recommend you make the most of the chalet's beautiful terraces and watch the stars come out over Verbier with a nightcap in hand.

But don't linger too long. There are soft beds to crawl into, plump pillows to rest your head on and freshly baked pastries waiting for you in the morning to get you ready for another day on Verbier's stunning slopes.
