

The Arula Estate Lech, Austria

What we love...

We love the party room in this amazing chalet that is just made for convivial gatherings.

Planning a huge gathering of friends and family with a bit of world-class skiing thrown in? You won't find a big, beautiful snowy bolthole quite like The Arula Estate. This luxury ski chalet in Lech sleeps up to 29 people and is ideal for big groups, with endless rooms and vast entertainment spaces so there's always somewhere to socialise and yet always a quiet corner to find some peace, too.

The party rooms are the perfect spot to get together after dinner to grab a drink from the bar and catch up with everyone. And with two separate rooms, you can have two parties going on at the same time - maybe something to entertain the kids while the grown-ups enjoy something a little more sedate in the other (though no one is going to stop the adults having balloons and bubbles if they want, either, of course!)

There are two spas, each with swimming pool, sauna, infra-red cabin and steam bath, as well as treatment and relaxation areas. There's plenty of space for everyone to enjoy the facilities, the kids can go wild in one pool while anyone who wants more of a relaxing swim and sauna can escape to the other.

In the evenings, fabulous food is served by your chef in the chalet's private restaurant, and you can then gather in the bar, relax in the spacious living areas or perhaps even pop out to the Jacuzzis to soothe aching limbs before retiring to luxury bedrooms for one of the best night's sleep of your life.

Everything is thought of at The Arula Estate, with staff always on hand, including a 24/7 butler service, so whatever your need or whim, it is always sorted in seconds, giving you the chance to completely switch off from life's daily stresses and relax totally into life at The Arula Estate.
