

The Lodge Verbier, Switzerland

What we love...

We love that the Lodge has it all; über-stylish design, to-die-for food and it's own spa treatment room for that heavenly post-ski massage to name but a few of the highlights.

The Lodge, Verbier is not your average ski chalet. It's Sir Richard Branson's personal mountain hideaway and as you'd expect, it's rather special.

Let's start with the location. It's tucked away down a quiet road but just a stones throw from the main Medran cable car up the mountain, and only about a ten minute walk from the restaurants, bars and boutiques of Verbier. Although, this being The Lodge, you can expect 24-hour minibus service at your beck and call. Snow permitting, advanced skiers can ski back down the mountain directly to the chalet at the end of the day.

The Lodge itself has a cool and contemporary interior design with subdued tones and splashes of colour.

You'll find a spacious living space which includes an open plan kitchen area so you can see the culinary-maestros at work.

Everything has been thought of and perfected at The Lodge, with meticulous attention to detail that would shame some of the world's finest hotels. Although the chalet has the look of a slick boutique hotel, the atmosphere is intimate and relaxed, giving a home-from-home feel.

In terms of facilities, there is little that The Lodge, Verbier does not have. You'll find an indoor pool, steam room, spa treatment room, indoor and outdoor Jacuzzis, gym, party room, games room...the list goes on.
