

Chalet Abade Val d'Isere, France

What we love...

We love the chalet's ski-in/ski-out location, meaning you can be on the slopes in a matter of moments from leaving the chalet...

A beautiful bolthole in the snow, Chalet Abade is a brand new luxury ski chalet in Val d'Isere that's ideal for sharing with a group of family or friends. Designed in a natural, rustic style, but with a modern twist, and plenty of home comforts, you'll relax as soon as you walk through the front door.

A five-minute drive from the centre of Val d'Isere, Chalet Abade has the benefit of being close to all the shops, bars and restaurants but nestled in a slightly quieter area so you can enjoy peaceful evenings in the privacy of your chalet, when you feel like it. Located right by Piste M, its ski-in/ski-out location is super convenient, too.

The interior is designed for plenty of socialising, with a spacious living area under vaulted ceilings, with floor-to-ceiling windows that let the light flood in as well as providing a picture-postcard view of the mountains. Back-to-back sofas face both the TV and the roaring fire, depending on your mood, and a huge statement chandelier hangs right in the middle, bringing a touch of country house style to the room.

When you return from the slopes, we recommend you throw on your robes and slippers and head straight for the outdoor hot tub or Hammam to relax. And if you've developed any aching muscles on the mountain, an hour in the private massage room with a masseur will soon sort that out.

Evenings are spent relaxing around the wood-burning fireplace with Champagne and canapés and then enjoying a delicious meal, prepared by your chef in the intimate dining room. And at the end of the night, we can't think of a better way to round off the day than with digestifs on the chalet's balconies, looking out at the views. If the mountain air and a sticky nightcap don't send you straight to the land of nod, then the cosy bedrooms with spa style en-suites and comfy beds piled high with pillows and throws surely will. Sweet dreams!

Eating

As you arrive at Chalet Abade, the staff set the right tone for the week with a Champagne reception to welcome you, and you can be sure of being well fed and watered for during your stay.

Each morning, a continental breakfast is laid out, including fresh local bread and pastries, local cheese and charcuterie, yoghurts from the dairy down the road and also plenty of jams and honeys, all washed down with juices, tea and coffee. You'll leave for the slopes, set fair for a day of activity.

On five evenings, Champagne and canapés are served before dinner, followed by a three-course dinner, each course introduced by your chef, and then a locally inspired cheeseboard, coffees and digestifs. To accompany this delicious food, you have a choice of hand-picked house wines, soft drinks, beers and 2 bottles of house spirits.

For little ones, your chef will be happy to prepare an earlier children's tea at a time to suit them.

The staff will be pleased to help you with restaurant bookings for the chef's nights off.

Alternatively, Chalet Abade can also be taken on self-catered basis if you prefer.

Kids

There's plenty of room to play in this family-friendly ski chalet and children are made to feel just as important as the grown-ups here.

There's lots to keep them busy when they aren't at ski school, such as the private cinema room where they can snuggle up with popcorn and a movie after a morning out in the snow. With a dedicated kids' tea laid on in the early evening on five nights of the week, you can put them to bed and then enjoy a quieter, adult meal in the evenings.

The property is well laid out for those travelling with children, with a quad bunk room as well as two bedrooms that can be configured as twins for extra flexibility. Cots and highchairs can be provided on request.

Childcare can also be booked on request.
