

Villa Ines Corfu

What we love...

We love the private swimming pool terrace – its cleverly designed columns, up lighting and water features create a soothing and stylish space to relax.

There's magic in the air at Villa Ines. Wake up to birdsong and the soft warm breeze, peep out over the dazzling Ionian Sea to the mountainous outline of Albania and you'll soon feel that a soothing spell has been cast over you.

This luxury catered villa in Corfu has had a recent refurbishment to add extra style and sophistication to its charming stone exterior and super-secluded setting. Clean-lined, neutral and state-of-the-art, it leaves the quality to speak for itself.

There is a real sense of indoor and outdoor merging here. The airy open-plan living space (with adjacent dining area and fully equipped modern kitchen) has large floor-to-ceiling windows and opens out onto the exceptional swimming pool terrace with its series of immaculate spaces. Take a seat at the pergola-shaded dining area for leisurely al fresco meals and take your pick of where to relax: there's a plush beach-club-style sofa, overwater day beds and a sunken seating zone with fire pit for starters.

The mineral-green infinity swimming pool is Villa Ines's piece de resistance – swim your way to the end to reach an enchanting waterfall and soak up those stunning sea views. If you like your dips always warm, the swimming pool can be heated on request.

Back inside on the ground floor, the master bedroom opens onto the garden and there's a further double or twin room. Upstairs, you'll find three en-suite bedrooms enjoying sea views. The final piece of this fabulous puzzle is a separate garden guest house with a double bedroom, shower room and kitchenette – ideal for multi-generational holidays or for guests looking for a little more me-time.

Eating

Food is a big part of the experience at Villa Ines and a private cook will ensure you're well fed during your stay with tasty breakfasts and then again with your choice of lunch or dinner.

The outdoor dining terrace at this luxury villa is something special. Spacious and secluded, a circular dining table takes centre stage for sociable mealtimes, while the bar area is the ideal perching spot to muddle up some cocktails. There's also a barbecue for grilling up local produce – perfect for flavour-packed leisurely lunches with a side of sea views.

More lavish spreads can be created in the contemporary kitchen, which comes with all mod cons and glossy worktops.

Please note that groceries are at an additional cost to allow the chef to create meals that perfectly suit you and your guests.

Villa Ines

Kids

Villa Ines has plenty of room for larger families to spread out and relax with its beautiful terraces and garden spaces. The garden guest house could also be an ideal sleeping space for teens who enjoy a little more independence.

Kids of all ages will enjoy splashing and swimming in the infinity swimming pool and of course the villa is close to Agios Stefanos (San Stefanos) where there are sandy beaches to enjoy.

Location

Villa Ines has a particularly private hillside position on Corfu's north-east coast, just minutes from sought-after Agios Stefanos (San Stefanos). This popular fishing village has a range of tavernas, bars and boutiques, as well as sandy beaches.

Transfers from Corfu airport take approximately one hour.
